A great strength of International House Bangkok and Chiang Mai is our teachers. As the biggest Cambridge CELTA teaching trainer centre in the world (annually we train around 550 teachers in Bangkok and Chiang Mai), when we need a new teacher we can pick from the very best of our graduates. Our interview stage is a 4-week course run by professional, Cambridge trained tutors that know what makes a great teacher. Therefore, all of our teachers are 100% qualified native speakers and are only the best 1% of teachers that we train. Most importantly, we are friendly school with welcoming staff that creates an enjoyable classroom environment for students.

The four main areas of our company are Corporate Training, Cambridge CELTA/Delta Teacher Training, Study Abroad English for International Students, and English/Test Preparation for Local Thai Students.

Our Teaching Style

We take a communicative approach to our English language classes. We believe that successfully learning a language comes through doing tasks that have real meaning, which means that the learners are required to use their language skills to complete tasks. The tasks, which are mostly done as pair-work or group-work, are generally in the form of conversations, role-plays, debates, surveys and presentations, often including authentic material. Here the emphasis is on the learners using the language to complete tasks effectively, whether that is successfully telling an anecdote, speaking with a customer on the phone, or a business meeting role-play. In the classes the teacher will create an atmosphere where learners feel comfortable using English and safe to take risks with their language use. The task achievement is monitored by the teacher and errors and successes are picked up, corrected and highlighted in an effort to fine-tune the learners' language use. This means that the more they perform tasks, the more their linguistic accuracy improves.

Our Teaching Style

We also understand that everyone learns differently and there isn't one way to learn. Therefore we look to have variety in the class with a range of stimulating tasks to cater to different learning styles. Learners can expect to have a balance of tasks, which may include activities that get them moving or solving problems, in order to ensure language learning is meaningful, stimulating and importantly, fun so that students want to continue.

Past Clients

A few of the companies we have recently, or currently, work with: Nike, AirAsia, Line Corp, Schneider Electric, OCBC Bank, Hitachi, Tetra Pak, JR East, Wallem, Cathay Pacific, ABC Tech, Monroe Consulting, PERI Thailand, Kerry Express, Plexal Group, JDE Coffee, Telenor group, Murakami, Sheraton, and Aisin.

Course Focus

At IH Bangkok, we realise that your colleagues' English needs are different from other companies and that is why all of our courses are individually designed to teach you and your colleagues what you need in order to work more effectively and profitably. Therefore, before the course starts we will evaluate your needs and devise a course for your approval. The course can cover many different areas of business, including, but not limited to:

- Banking
- Design Companies
- Project Management and IT
- Tech Companies
- Health Care
- Customer Service
- Marketing
- Hotels
- Sales

To begin, your staff members would each take a placement test and have an interview with our assessors. This would show us their current levels of English, what they need English for, and what organization and content of the course would be the best fit for them. During this time we would also meet to discuss the course options in more detail.
